The Skeleton of a Murderer

THE ASSASSIN OF A WEALTHY LADY AND HER DAUGHTER—THE AMERICAN NEWS THE VICTIM ADVERTISED FOR.

The following advertisement appears in the last numbers of the Postmilde (No. 10 German) Gazette:

"The following heirs of Catherine spring and daughter Dorothy, both of whom were violently dead in 1862 at Amsterdam, are requested to appear immediately to the Royal Court of Justice at Amsterdam: Sophia Behrens, daughter of Kelenast, Anna Derding, Maria Derding, Joseph Derding, all of whom emigrated to the United States about 1864. E. H. BELSEN, Solicitor."

This advertisement was issued in consequence of the discovery of the murderer of a widow Spelling and her daughter, and of the recovery of the spoils of his fearful crime, upwards of twenty years after it had been committed.

In July, 1885, the police of Amsterdam saw on the door of his house an ad-

Street, where Catharine Spelling lived a daughter Dorothy, a notice to the effect that the two women had gone to the country. This notice aroused no suspicions, but when the old lady and daughter did not return after the lapse of six weeks, the police encountered it. A fearful sight met their eyes. The wife and her daughter, with their throats cut from ear to ear, were lying on the floor in an advanced state of decomposition, while all the bureaus were rifled of their valuables.

It was ascertained that the murdered had carried off diamonds, money, bonds, amounting to nearly one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Time passed on, and the police were unable to

by-get, and the double murder was almost hidden, until on the 3rd of July last, house in which the crime had been committed was torn down. Between it and the adjoining house was a space of one foot in width, and hemmed in by a wall. In this space a skeleton was found a man's skeleton. At the bottom of this space lay a large leather pouch containing the diamonds, the money, the bonds of the murdered widow.
The coroner was undoubtedly that of the killer of the two women, who, after insinuating them and bagging the plunder, had tried to escape over the roof of the house, but slipping his foot, had fallen into the space between the two buildings.
There he met with the just retribution his terrible crime. He died there excruciatingly painful death of slow ration.

The officers of the United States ship "Congress," which is on a cruise three years, arrived in the Clyde on the 10th and were entertained by the Provost magistrates to a grand public luncheon at the Council Hall, Glasgow.

A black servant, not a hundred from St. Andrews, being examined in Church catechism by the minister of Parish, was asked, 'What are you of, Jack?' He said, 'O! mud; no being told that he should say 'O! dus replied, 'No, massa, it no do; no together.'

An action for breach of promise of marriage was tried at the Brecon Assize Friday. Both parties were about fifty of age. When Miss Davies reproached with having deceived her, and threatened to sue for a divorce, Mr. Jones and cut each paring into very small pieces, then put a large handful of loaf sugar in a saucepan, add a pint of water, and boil with a small cupful of vinegar. When the syrup boils throw in the orange parings and put it by the fire to remain boiling not boiling for an hour. Carefully peel above three oranges and three more, less than a vestige of the white rind on top. Cut each orange in about eight pieces, remove the pipe and middle from each. Put all the pieces in a bowl and pour the hot syrup over them. Serve when quite cold.

SUIT AGAINST A CATHOLIC BISHOP.—Murry Ryan, a suspended priest of Catholic Church, who has for some time practising medicine in Chicago, has commenced a suit in the Circuit Court against Right Rev. Thomas Freely, Bishop of Diocese, laying damages at $35,000. His claim is based on the allegation that bishop, in suspending him, acted despotically and irregularly, and not in accordance with the canons of the Church.

Don't Run in Debt.

Beware—beware of debt.
Pay down for what you get.
Your clothes are not in style, But your home yet waits to be With heat and a bed, You can make them "good as new".
The land, and not the law,
The heat, not the cravat, Makes a success of life.
For husband, child and wife.

Debt is a frightful ghost, Which haunts us when we most Desire sweet peace to reign—Within the man's domestic
The floor seems bare and cold,
The furniture is old,
But sweet to sleep and eat, Water comes no fear of law,
And the debtors' door
For debts that should not run.

Don't run in debt, beware!
It's a trap, a snare, Let fashion put on airs, You shall be wiser and wiser, For fashion sometimes make Fits both, sometimes they break The wings which they're worn, Then dropping, sink and rot,
The bird in sorrow lies,
Under a saving shawl.

The debtor is a slave.
"May a man" that have Pain, trouble, when he meets His neighbor in the street, When none are "coming due",
What will become of you?
Unless you meet the bill,
You are a debtor still.

Oh, be an honest man,
And spend less than you earn;
Have thought to discern That debt is not a tree Who scorns the luxury
That tempt him to forget The promise of debt,
For every penny of gold Will make his heart hold.

The Family Letter.

HOW THE MATERIALS ARE PROCURED—

HOW THEY ARE USED—WHAT BECOMES

OF THE RESULT.

(From the Daily News.)

The family letter is written on Sunday.

The reason that day is selected is not alone because of the leisure it presents. The quest of the day, instead of all influences that irritate or agitate, frees the mind from irrelevant and antagonistic matter, and makes it pre-eminently a fit occasion for commencing with distant loved ones. In nine cases out of ten, the letter is written by the head of the family, and of those sent an equal proportion is addressed to his wife's folks. We don't know why it is that men so rarely write to his own folks, but as it is not the province of this article to treat on that subject, we will pretend we don't care. The home letter, selected for publishing the letter, the first thing is to find the paper. There is always a drawer in every well-regulated family, for keeping such things. It is either in the table or near the writing paper and odd acres and fields, strings and iron tools, and fish and grocery receipts are kept.

There may be other things, but there are he will find them.

The sheet of paper is finally found; the fray ends neatly scraped off, and the search commences for the ink and pen. The pen is invariably found on the mantel next to the clock, and is immediately laid on the table, convenient to the perching man, who sarcastically inquires if the pen is to be written "to my next Sunday."

This inspires the pen with new life in the search. She goes over the drawer again, because she knows he wouldn't say anything if it was right under his nose, but the pen is not there. Then she looks over the top of the front room table, and says it seems so singular it can't be found, when she sees it only the day before, and thought about the letter. Then she goes into the parlour, and after exploring the lower shelf in vain, stands upon a chair, and carefully goes over the top shelf, where the medicine bottles and unused cans are stationed. After she has done this, she starts upstairs, and pretty soon returns with the pen, and taken it to the ink to write the great first line, and then she needs in quick dispatch the bargain. This leads him to observe that anybody who takes a penholder to lift his grease from a board is too pure and innocent for a house. Everything new and mad, good humor is restored, the wife takes her seat opposite with her elbows on the table and her chin in her hands, and assumes an expression of contentment that is mysteriously calculated to both encourage and repress the writer; and he grasps the pen with the paper with an intensity that is entirely new.

The day is fine starts off glibly, and then suddenly ceases at reaches the date itself, and the penholder is out again, making up his face which is by no means suggestive of bermud, and prettily asks her if she knows the day of the month, and she knows it. It is the 13th—oh, it is not at all—no—it must be. She hesitates, stares at him, wavers and wails. She doesn't know whether it is the 13th or the 15th, but the almanac will set, and she at once starts to hunt it up. This occasions a delay of ten minutes, during which he makes about ninety-five passes at one fly. The date having been satisfactorily settled upon, and the things which raised the pen out as that stander unexpectedly fall away, having been restored to their place, the date line is completed, and "Dear Mother," started. The pen is a home pen of battle month, and wherever it starts a line it quies a half-dozen strokes to make it give down. Home does this. And all which the ink takes to cross the line some considerable divisions of words, and Some of these words are sometimes met, and applied in the next room to one of the almanac. When the letter is completed, which generally occurs in a day or two,

the fifth hour from its commencement, and carefully read over, and sent with an artificially touched up with the pen at the base places. The letter is folded up ready for the envelope, and the day is over, and that there is no envelope in the house, and the letter is tucked in behind the clock until the want is supplied.

The International Bridge.

It is now expected that the great International Bridge, to span the Niagara River between Buffalo and Fort Erie, will be completed, and a formal opening take place some time in October next. It is the enterprise of an independent company, was commenced in May, 1870, and its cost will be something over one million of dollars. The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser thus describes it: "The superstructure is of iron supported on stone piers, with the necessary draws for the passage of vessels."

length of the main bridge, across the river is 1,968 feet; thence across Squaw Island to the west end of the bridge over Black Rock Harbor, is about 1,200 feet; and the bridge over the Harbor to Niagara Street is 517 feet. Squaw Island is at present crossed by trestlework some twenty feet in height, but this is to be filled up, so that the track across the island will be continuous.

Commencing at the Canada shore the bridge will be nine spans across the river, the first three of them are 190 feet in the clear, then come three spans, each 240 feet in the clear; then two draw openings, each 240 feet; then one span of 190 feet, to Squamish Island. The length of the bridge across Black Rock Harbor as before stated, is 1,100 feet, and in this will also be two openings of ninety feet each, with a pier between them. The opening of this opening, as well as that over the opening of the river, will be operated by means of a screw.

required to open and shut the sluice gate in less than fifty seconds. The location of the sluice gate in the river—near the American then the Canadian shore—is in accordance with the decision of a commission for United States and Canadian engineers, appointed by the Governments consisting of Gen. Warren, Col. Merritt, and Col. Harwood, and the selection of this position meets the entire approval of all Canadian parties. Of the piers in the river, eight in number, all are finished save the one in about the middle of the stream. In preparation for the foundation of this it was necessary to place a pile of stones in the river bed, and the rock in the bed of the river was covered to a depth of about one foot with gravel. This work of about one mile is necessary to remove the wreck of comhas been finished, and the laying of foundation will be immediately commenced. It is calculated that the pier will be completed in the course of three or four weeks. All the piers are solid and built up as to secure the greatest solidity, and offer the least possible resistance to the river.

The depth of the water in the river where the bridge crosses, is from ten to forty three feet. The iron work for the bridge is manufactured at Phoenixville near Philadelphia, and the superstructure is known as the Pratt truss. The truss consists of four main lines—that from pier to pier, the lower chord, as it is called, and the two side chords, at a considerable distance from each other, and connected by chord, and counter supports at either end on which the upper chord rests. The upper chord and counters are tubular, together in five pieces, with flanges. The lower chord consists of rods which tie the counters and verticles, and resist the thrust of the upper chords to thrust the counters apart. The upper road is that in which the roadway is hung. Transverse girders are suspended therefrom. The girders bolted to the lower chord and connected with the upper by an iron verticle principal. The uniform load is supported necessarily still on the vertical principal, and latterly by means of counter braces and rods, until it is thrown final of the masts.

The bridge has the strength of a tubular one, without its weight and other objections. Vertical and counter pieces form the sides; the tops of the vertical pieces are painted horizontally, strengthened diagonally, and supported by angled ties, forming the roof; and the roadway constitutes the floor. A novel plan is pursued in placing the iron spans on the piers. They are built upon a frame-work over a number of pontoons, which act in the manner of a dry-dock. The pontoons are chained to the bridge between the piers, and are in position when the spans are lowered, and the iron truss is hoisted into its place on the piers. The chief engineer in the construction of the river is Mr. E. P. Hannaford, of Montreal.

and the chief engineer is Mr. J. Hobson, who is in charge of the construction of Fort Erie. The Grand Trunk, Great Western, and Canada Southern Railway have already put down approaches to the bridge on the Canada side. The approach on this side is about 100 feet south of Parish Street, and here, also, several of the roads have already put down tracks, including the contemplated New York, West Shore and Chicago Road.

There is a man in Kingston who is so slovenly that his friends have to wash him and trim his hair and beard by force. He threatens a law suit, but is too lazy to commence proceedings.

A poor widow in Cullen, Ky., was hoisting potatoes and eggs. The poor fellow, however, was not a miser, and naturally looking to see what was in it, he found $500 in gold. He is plunged in great distress by the discovery; at one time she laments that the sum is not worth $10,000, and at another she cries for fear some claimant will appear.

What a Man Should Have.
Let a man have a fervent love for what is pure, and just, and honorable, let him have a cordial abhorrence of what is mean, and ungenerous, and he will not go far wrong. The only sound way of training men to purity, integrity and loyalty is to let them know the broad outlines of God's law, and then to trust them to the light of conscience, and the teachings of the Holy Ghost, moreover, most of the moral evils from which men suffer, will not disappear under direct remedies; what is necessary in the development of positive loyalty to God and goodness to men.
Taylor says, "Men do not serve God with honesty and heartfulness, and do not love him greatly, but stand upon terms with him and study how much is lawful, how far they may go, and which is their strictest stretch of lawful, being afraid to do more for God and for their souls, than is simply absolutely necessary."

The Royal Commission.
INVESTIGATION OF THE CHARGES AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT.

THE TESTIMONY.

Special Telegram to the Intelligence.

FIFTH DAY.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5.

The Commission resumed the investigation of some to-day.

Mr. Bethune's evidence was read over to him and signed.

Dr. Bell's evidence was also read and signed.

The first witness called was Senator Foster, who failed to respond.

Mr. Dakers was called and sworn. He was secretary of the Montreal Telegraph Company, and messenger at Montreal. Some nothing of any arrangements or understanding between Sir Hugh and Mr. Abbott, or between Sir Hugh and the Government respecting the Pacific Railway, had no message which passed between Sir Hugh and Sir Hugh or Mr. Abbott in Aug. '72, the message for J. R. Macdonald sent, according to the Company's rules; had no recollection and did not know that any of his men had been in contact with Sir Hugh or the Government through the Company. They might pass without his knowledge. In the office books there was a record of a telegram dated 30th August, from Abbott to Sir Hugh. There was also a record of a telegram from Sir Hugh to Abbott, dated August 24th. Want of room was one reason why the telegrams were destroyed.

In reply to Sir John, witness said the rule for destroying telegrams had existed for a long time. It had no reference whatever to the Company or Pacific Railway telegrams. The rule for destroying telegrams every six months was enforced by witness.

Mr. Connel, after being sworn, deposed as Commissioner of Dominion Police. Was Major of Montreal in 1872. Knew nothing of the matters in connection with Sir Hugh Macdonald, or Sir Hugh and the Government.
Knew nothing of the matter at all. Did not know why Kingston put his name on the witness list. Witness then said: "I saw Sir Hugh yesterday. Told him if there was any information I could give I would be happy to do so. If he would name the questions he wanted answered. He (Hastings) said: "Your name was suggested and put on the witness list, but I don't know what evidence you were expected to give." This statement caused general laughter in Court.

Mr. Leblanc, Sheriff of Montreal, deposed: He knew nothing of the matter connected with Sir Hugh's charges. Was not Sheriff during the elections. Was put on Carter's counsel eight days after Sir Hugh's charges were made. Sir Hugh was a subscriber to the election fund. Knew nothing of a receipt for about $2,000. Was surprised when he saw it published. The election fund was spent for customary election purposes.
Was always an election fund for both parties.

J. B. Beaudry was next called and gave his testimony in French. Was not a member of any political committee. Knew nothing of the matter connected with the charges.

Jackman, an alleged witness, deposed he resided in Montreal; was manager of the Macdonald Bank of which Sir Hugh was President.
Was not a witness at Sir Hugh's trial; never heard of Macdonald in the publication of the correspondence; knew nothing of any negotiations respecting the Pacific Railway, or elections; had no personal knowledge of Sir Hugh and Abbott's correspondence; to furnish evidence which, only knew by rumor about funds provided for election purposes; believed rumors were true that Sir Hugh subscribed; judged so by the remarks made by Sir Hugh to others had been no charges; they did not necessarily know how much Sir Hugh had contributed; knew nothing about the expenditure of election funds; Sir Hugh had a private account in the bank and a general business account.
In reply to Sir John, witness said he was not Sir Hugh's political agent nor railway agent; knew nothing about his plans.

On the conclusion of Mr. Beaudry's evidence, the Court adjourned till 4 p. m.

Police Court.

(Before A. D. DIAMOND, Esq., P. M.)

MONDAY, SEPT. 5.

Two cases—Benjamin Clapp vs. Thomas Huntley, and Thomas Huntley vs. Benjamin Clapp, the first for assault and the second for obscene language—were dismissed, after hearing.

ANARLY.

George Coburn charged G. W. Davis with assaulting him. It appeared from the evidence that plaintiff, in the morning of the day on which the assault was committed, had been on the street, and that the defendant was a man who was against him, and after some altercation between the parties, defendant struck him, and got rather the worst of the encounter which followed. Evidence for the prosecution was heard, and the case was laid over until to-morrow to allow of evidence being offered for the defence.

LAD OVER.

A case of Jarney, P. vs. Blackburn, was laid over until to-morrow.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 9.

DRUNK.

John Bonner appeared—discharged, not having been disorderly.

VAGRANCY.

A vagrant, whose name we failed to get hold of, was allowed to depart, on promising to leave town.

ASSAULT.

A case of O'Brien vs. Davis was heard, and a fine of $5 imposed. Mr. S. B. Bondi, counsel for defendant, stated that, as he had been the cause of procuring the affidavit which proved O'Brien to O'Brien and O'Brien on account of the "dispute," he felt bound to concede the case.

RECKLESS MILLS.

Margaret Cheese Factory vs. Crawford—On this case being called, Mr. D. B. Bondi, counsel for plaintiff, stated that the case was likely to be settled, and shortly afterwards it was settled, the defendant admitting having committed his mill, and paid all costs —amounting to $24.40.

A dispatch from New Bedford narrates the reckoning of two violators and the loss of life of four of their crew.

On the 21st, a small boat, containing a crew of five men, was seen to be in the vicinity of the British American Mine Commission at Washington, London. Claimed the boat was in the possession of the public and given to their grievances.

A young English girl in the General Hotel, Montreal, was about to be married yesterday and jumped out of the second story window and broke her back, from the effects of which she afterwards died.

A Nut to Crack.

Mr. Blake in his speech at Howlandville, in his desire to be understood, stated that he did not know of any content "Lord Dufferin for the course he pursued at the Prorogation. Lord Dufferin was of two minds a moment ago, and otherwise than according to Constitutional rule and "practice." This part of Mr. Blake's speech, the Globe carefully omitted from its report. Mr. Blake did not approve of its attacks upon the Governor General.
But it is not a little singular, if these are Mr. Blake's opinions, that he should have stood behind Mackenzie on that memorable 13th of August, and assisted in the gross outrage upon the Governor General's Messenger. If the act of Lord Dufferin was outraged, and Mr. Blake thought so, why did he look on and applaud while his followers were hooting and yelling like so many barbarians. Strange, isn't it?

Trenton Horticultural Society.

This Society was organized and held its first show last year without any Government aid, for, as the law then stood, "Horticultural Societies were confined to Cities and Towns of not less than 3,000 inhabitants." The act of the Ontario Parliament amending the "Agricultural and Arts Act," which provides that "any number of persons not less than fifty in any city, town, or incorporated village or town, may, by a resolution passed by a majority of the members, form a Horticultural Society, and may, subject to the approval of the Council, acquire and hold land, and erect buildings thereon, for the purpose of holding Horticultural Shows." The Trenton Horticultural Society having complied with the provisions of this Act, are now about to hold their second annual exhibition in the Drill Shed, which was tastefully arranged for the occasion, and the show was all things considered, a decided success, and reflects great credit upon the Horticultural and Florists of Trenton. Prof.
John Macdonald and J. H. Peck of Belleville were Judges of the different articles exhibited, and they speak very favorably of the exhibition.

If the people of Belleville would follow the example of Trenton a good Horticultural show could be held in connection with the West Hastings Agricultural Society.

The formation of a Horticultural Society will not perhaps prove as advantageous as to have a Horticultural and Floral Show in the Agricultural buildings, about the middle of July each year, for the formation of a Horticultural Society, a separate Board of Directors and officers would have to be kept up, certainly at an expense; and besides, the Horticultural Society would share in the expenses of the Horticultural Society, which would be a disadvantage.

THE DOMINION

COAL OIL COOKING STOVE.

Burns Oil, and at an expense of One Cent in the Hour, will make or melt, and does every variety of Cooking in a very superior manner.

BAKES bread, biscuits, puddings, and all kinds of meat. Broils or fries steaks, system, tomatoes, etc. Heats flat iron, glue oil, and all kinds of things. It is adapted for drying fruiting.

It is simple and economical, and is adapted to a kitchen table, it is always ready for use, requiring only a match for kindling and can be extinguished at pleasure.

The heat can be regulated to a nicety, and is not subject to those variations which other fires are liable to. This will be appreciated by the landowner, or the lady who does her own pressing. There is no smoke, unpleasant odor, dust nor noise.

Families of any size may use their stoves cooking with this stove. To students, clerks, and all who desire to save money, it is invaluable. The saving in fuel soon defrays its whole cost.

The sick room, the nursery, the counting house, the workshop, will soon discover its

The Balloon Expedition a Fizzle.

Bursting of the Gigantic Fabric.

Loggertown.

A New Expedition to be Undertaken.

Ravages on the Rio Grande Border.

New York, Sept. 13.—Weather damp and cloudy; heavy fog on the bay and river, with west wind.

The balloon proprietors claim that Win-brooke's contract by agreeing to carry a passenger for $500, payable three days before the start, and understood that part of the money had already been paid. The proprietors believe that Prof. Winbrooke intended to go. Donald says he did not see Winbrooke for three days.

It was finally determined not to permit Win-brooke to go, even if he wanted to, and when he appeared on the ground he took no part in the preparation for the ascent. The proprietors say the bursting was occasioned by the excessive pressure of wind on an immense balloon and not from inferior material. This mistake after having the proprietors promised Donaldson to construct him a new balloon of silk, if he would go to it. Donaldson accepted the offer, and he is now at Loggertown, waiting for arrangements, probably to be ready by the middle of October. As an interview, Win-brooke said that his name had been in the

By the River.

I am sitting alone by the river,
And the willows are weeping its brink;
The shadows of twilight are falling,
And I sit by the river and think.

The shadows of the twilight grow deeper,
The river is humming from night;
I can see the willows no longer,
And I am alone with the light.

In darkness and gloom, noble river, Thou art solemnly and darkly away;
In darkness and gloom I am floating, And whither, O, say, do I stray?

The learning of Plato and Poesel Is sadly at work in my brain; I am satisfied about nothing, I feel and I reason in vain.

Does justice exist? Oh, where is it?
Still the heart of the tyrant is true;
Still his victims are crying, despoiling, Still he needs not, he hears not their moan.

The vain that you tell me, hereafter These things are not to be;
We are only able to reason,
From that which we see and we know.

For centuries long have the curses Of the heart-broken pierced to the skies; For centuries long has no answer Returned to the desolate cries.

If I call upon Nature to comfort, It is silent and grim as the grave;
The winds will not give to my question—No reply from the lone and the brave.

And the stars, that glitter above us, Pure and calm as the fakes of the dew, Look as cold as the sorrows of mortals As they looked in the years long ago.

Oh give me! Oh give me my childhood, The unquenching faith that was there,
When I knelt at the feet of my mother, And gently she taught me my prayer.

I am sitting alone by the river,
And the willows are weeping its brink;
The twilight has deepened to midnight,
And I sit by the river and think.

What is said of Butter.

When a wholesale dealer is questioned as to the proportion of really fine butter he receives in his consignments, he replies, "five per cent." A larger proportion than this comes to market as good butter. The rest will tell you that of all his stock good butter is the most difficult to procure, and costs him more time and trouble to select. We know there is no good reason why this should be. Here and there scattered widely apart throughout the country, we know farmers who make excellent butter, which would be classed first quality in the market, and next door to them are neighbors who make trash unfit for human food. On the counters of country stores may any day be seen rolls of butter most widely different in color, flavor and texture. One farmer is careful and cleanly, his wife keeps her dairy sweet and her milk pans perfectly pure; another keeps a foul stable, milks in an unclean fashion, has rusty feed and foul water for his cows, while his wife is equally careless in her duty. How can the butter in these two cases be other than widely different in quality and value.

A man is by nothing so much himself, as by his temper and the character of his passions and affections. If he loves what is manly and worthy in these, he is as much lost to himself as if he loses his memory and understanding.

A horse got on the railroad track near Montgomery, Ala., last week, and actually led a swift train for over a mile. He would have utterly derailed it, only he turned his head to see where the thing worked, and stumbled into a culvert, where he lay unharmed while his motor-train rolled past on its triumph.

A Rhode Island blacksmith has succeeded in changing the gait of a pacing horse to that of a trotter, simply fastening an extra pair of shoes heavier than usual to the fore-feet whenever he wants the horse to trot, and taking them off at all other times. The sudden change of weight on his fore feet forces the horse to change his gait.

The London Bridge gives the following dimensions of a bridge to be constructed over the Frith of Forth. The structure will be by far the largest bridge in the world. It will be 150 feet in height, and will contain nearly 100 spans. The greatest span in the entire will be 1,000 feet, and nearly a third of a mile in extent, dimensions which are without parallel for any similar piece of architecture. The bridge will be 150 feet in width, being considerably beyond the average dimensions of the largest spans in ordinary bridges. It will cost at least $10,000,000.

Town Council.

A special meeting of the Council was held this evening, for the transaction of general business.

PRESIDENT—He Worthy the Mayor, Messrs. Borden, Taylor, Danforth, Hambley, Suberland, Holden, Vandusen and Foster.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, read and referred to their appropriate Committees.

From the Hook and Ladder Company for a grant of $300 for services rendered.

From Hon. B. Flint, for remission of taxes on Marchmont.

From W. Schriver and others, for improvements on George Street, and for repairs on Dundas Street, Coleman Ward.

From James H. Beatty, for $50, as compensation for alterations in the ferry dock which he constructed last winter, by order of the board of directors.

From P. Mulhearn and others, for grading and sidewalk on Bracken Street.

From W. H. Fowler to be assessed on the house and lot formerly occupied by W. P. Niles.

Several accounts were also presented and referred.

The report of selectors of jurors, all voters' lists and assessment rolls were presented.

A report was presented from the License Inspector, favoring a transfer of tavern license from Andrew Suider to T. A. Hookbrook.

J. P. Thomas was heard in opposition to the petition for the opening of George Street to Coleman Ward.

REPORTS

Mr Hamby presented the report of the Finance Committee, submitting the estimates, and recommending the appointment of Dauborn O'Kernan as Collector for 1903 on his furnishing satisfactory sureties.

Mr. Sutherland asked that his notice regarding Cemetery By-law be allowed to stand over until next meeting.—Granted.

WAYS AND MEANS.

Council went into Committee on Ways and Means, Mr. Denmark in the chair.

The By-law for the levying of the tax other than school taxes, was read a second time.

Mr. Hamby, in moving the adoption of the estimates, remarked upon the increase which had taken place during year in salaries, streets and one or two other matters, the whole amounting upwards of $11,000. Then the revenue from the harbor would fall short of the year about by $4,000. Notwithstanding these facts, and that the requirements of the town, including schools—which must be increased, and were beyond the control of the Council—were considerably greater than last year, the rate this year would be lighter than last year. Last year's rate was 144 mills; this year's would be 141 mills; on the face of it, a small reduction on the face of it, but still considerable on the nearly $3,000,000 of assessed value. He trusted that no tax would be lost in the matter, as the rate should be in the hands of the Collector in the middle of October.

Mr. Bardett spoke against the high rate of taxation. It was to be regretted that the Trustees, who had expended such large sums and engaged in too much litigation, were not so directly responsible to the people as were the Councilors, and that

The levy on the Grand Junction bonds was regarded as oppressive and a burden on the people, who were reaping no benefit from the railway as yet, though one-third of the whole of the taxes raised went to the Grand Junction Treasury. He would let the debentures run for nearly 20 years, then redeem them by raising debentures to run for 10 years longer. By this time the town would be larger and better able to pay this taxation. After remitting upon some other items of which he did not approve, he said the taxes should be reduced now, leaving the future to take care of itself.

Mr. Hambly agreed with Mr. Burdett's remarks in reference to the School Trustees. Mr. Burdett objected that £80,000 was a sum too large to be raised by a rate of 10s. in the pound, and that the rate should be estimated for last year; but £80,000 over £90,000 was spent. He had fully discussed the Grand Junction matter last year.

Because the shahs gave up their clubs, the courtiers threw down their spades, and the ladies were within an ace of losing their hearts, when he came to show his diamonds.
